he Milwaukee County Zoo will experience significant growth in 1989. Because of an agreement between the Milwaukee County Zoo and the Zoological Society of Milwaukee County to fund the capital improvements plan, two new projects are scheduled to open.

In July, Zoo visitors will be entertained—and educated—by the underwater viewing of sea lions. This unique exhibit is Concept V in the Zoo's exciting program, "Life Beneath the Waters." The exhibit will offer visitors the opportunity to watch the antics of these active swimmers in a naturalistic environment.

Thanks to a generous donation from the Evinrude family, the Ralph Evinrude Pavilion will be completed in the late summer to early fall of 1989. New decking will provide a welcome rest spot for daytime visitors and a pleasant location for company parties at night. Situated on the edge of Lake Evinrude, it will be a fitting tribute to the Evinrude family. Lake Evinrude was created over 25 years ago through the generosity of Ralph Evinrude.

In addition to the partnership projects, Heileman's Old Style Terrace will be completed in the spring of 1989. Occupying the grassy area near the front of the Zoo, the Terrace will function as a picnic site and meeting place for family outings. There will be a concrete patio area, gazebos and a stage. The Terrace will be beautifully landscaped, featuring four pergolas (overhead arbors) as entrance portals. This Society project will complement the overall master plan for the Zoo.

Major construction of two other facilities will also begin in 1989. The new Great Ape Facility, an immersion into a tropical rainforest where you will share the exotic environment with gorillas and bonobos, will break ground in spring. Look for the grand opening in 1991. The renovation of the Aviary will also begin in earnest this year. When completed in 1990, it will feature a shore-bird exhibit and a new free-flight hall where visitors will get a tree-top perspective. Precise reproductions of natural habitats will stimulate the breeding of many endangered species.

Although involved in building and renovation, the Zoo also remains dedicated to animal acquisition and conservation programs. The employees of Miller Brewing Company donated $60,000 to the Zoo and the Zoological Society to purchase a pair of black rhinos. After one and one-half years of negotiations, the import and export permits are in place for the relocation of 10 black rhinos from the Zambesi River Valley in Zimbabwe. Two will come to the Milwaukee County Zoo and eight will go to zoos and ranches in Texas. These ten animals help to create a new gene pool—vital to the captive breeding program for this rare and endangered species.

We hope that you visit the Zoo often this year, to enjoy the new exhibits and animals; and to observe the construction progress. Your world-class Zoo is already a leader. With your support and enthusiasm, the Milwaukee County Zoo is well on its way to becoming the best zoo in the country.

You "Otter" Come See Us!

by Dr. Gilbert K. Boese

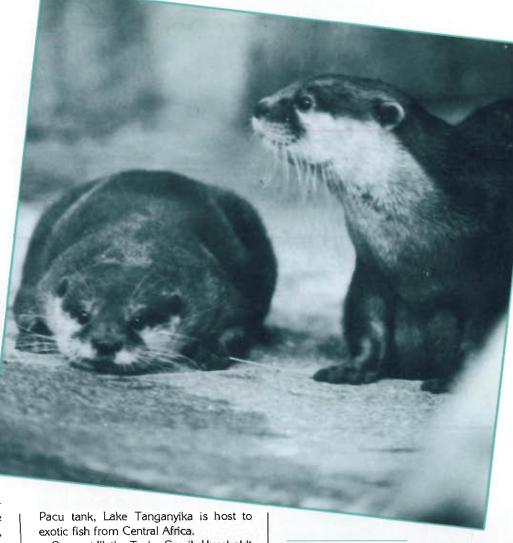

ater, water everywhere! The earth contains brooks, streams, rivers and oceans. In fact, 75% of our earth's surface is under water. How much do we know about what lives below the surface? What do we know about the lives of creatures that live from one foot to many fathoms below the surface?

The Zoo has always been interested in the aquatic dimension of our world. As the Milwaukee County Zoo and the Zoological Society became more involved in the capital improvements plan, a theme began to evolve-"Life Beneath the Waters," On December 17, 1988, the fourth addition to that theme was realized when the Asia Small Clawed Otters, arrived at the Small Mammal Building.

After years of preparation and work, a center-stage exhibit was unveiled as the Zoo's holiday present to all Milwaukee. Visitors now have the opportunity to see the agility and acrobatic behavior of these unique animals in their environment-a water course in Asia- providing another underwater adventure at the Milwaukee County Zoo.

"Life Beneath the Waters-Concept I" has thrilled millions of visitors since 1986 when the underwater viewing of the Polar Bear was unveiled. The size of the bears' pool was doubled, and a filtration system which circulates clean, cold water was installed. Zoo visitors gained a new understanding of the Polar Bears as they witnessed these lumbering land animals become graceful and agile swimmers. It's the finest exhibit of its kind in the country.

Concept II continued with Lake Tanganyika, the only exhibit of its kind in the world. Featured in the Aquarium/Reptile Building along with Lake Wisconsin and the popular Concept III, the Taylor Family Humboldt Penguin Exhibit, opened in spring of 1988 to the delight of thousands. This new exhibit has allowed the Zoo to expand its captive breeding program. Featuring a lava flow habitat on the Pacific shores of South America, the penguins live and swim all year in pool kept at a constant 55 degrees. Visitors are welcomed to the Zoo by the inviting penguins.

In the wild, otters feed on snails, mussels and crustaceans found in the mud and beneath the rocks of a river. They occasionally eat fish.

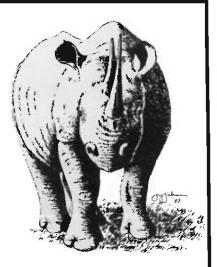

Watch for the opening of Concept V, "Life Underwater With Sea Lions and Harbor Seals" in July. It will offer both underwater and above surface viewing areas, and feature a new basking area for the animals.

The Zoo will continue to make improvements for the visitor's pleasure and understanding. "Life Beneath the Waters" offers AAZK Milwaukee invites you to hear our guest speaker, Andy Lodge, pachyderm keeper at the Columbus Zoo, talk about his experiences on the Ngare Sergoi Rhino Preserve. The Preserve is a 5500 acre sanctuary for black rhinos located in Northern Kenya.

Come hear Andy's personal experiences, the joys of birth, the sorrows of death, the threat of poachers and one woman's dream of providing what may be one of the last areas of sanctuary for this magnificent animal.

Andy Lodge will give his talk at 7 p.m. on January 26, 1989, at the Peck Welcome Center at the Milwaukee County Zoo. A reception will follow. No admission will be charged.

WHAT'S GNU

ust in time for the holiday season, the Milwaukee County Zoo welcomes several new individuals to the animal collection. Three reindeer arrived from the Barnett Park Zoo in Syracuse, New York. A male tayra from the Birmingham Zoo joins the Zoo's female in the Small Mammal Building. Two Dall sheep arrived from the Rio Grande Zoo, including a breeding male. "Carol," the bactrian camel, was traded to the Brookfield Zoo for "Lynn" to offer more opportunity for genetic exchange.

The Primate Building has been busy in the birth department with the arrival of a healthy baby mandrill. Milwaukee was the first zoo in North America to have a successful captive siamang birth. The Zoo has continued this tradition with the birth of a bouncing baby girl.

The most rewarding birth was the discovery of a young red kangaroo. Its mother, "Bucka-roo," had her feet broken as an infant. She underwent many surgenes, trips to the veterinary school in Madison, treatments, and hours of "TLC." It was once questionable as to whether she would ever be able to walk or function like a normal kangaroo. Recently "Bucka" was seen with an infant in her pouch, marking a major achievement for the medical and animal staff.

Lounging on display in the Aquanum/ Reptile Building is a eight foot female American Alligator. The Zoo will, once again, cooperate with the DNR's Trumpeter Swan release program. Two swans from the Lincoln Park Zoo will winter at the Zoo until they are released by the DNR in spring.

Special Events take the Chill Out of Winter

Get ready to come out of hibemation this winter and visit the Milwaukee County Zoo for some exciting winter fun!

January 11 to 14 the Zoo will host the U.S. Snow Sculpting Competition. Now in its fourth year, the competition has grown to more than 30 creative and breathtaking sculptures created by teams from around the nation. The sculptures are true works of art, standing 6'x6'x10'.

It's time once again to "bear" the early moming chill, lace up your running shoes, and run in this year's 9th Annual Samson Stomp on Sunday, January 22. Starting times are 9:30 a.m. for the 10k race and 9:45 a.m. for the 2 mile Fun Run. Following the race, in the Peck Welcome Center, a light brunch will be served along with Gorilla talks beginning at 12:30 p.m. by Bruce Beehler, Assistant Director of Animal Management & Health and Sam La Malfa, Primate Building Area Supervisor. We hope to see you here, earmuffs, mittens, scarves and all!

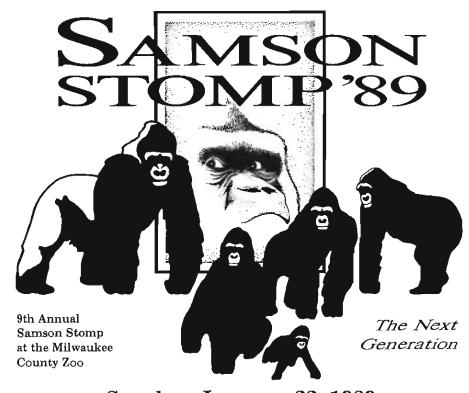

Take a photo safari through the Zoo so you can participate in the Fifth Annual Photo Contest sponsored by Kodak Film and WMIL Radio. February 1, 1989 is the "kick off" for the contest which will run through March 31, 1989. Show us what you've seen through your camera as you've walked through the Zoo capturing the beauty of our animals. Contest winners and prizes will be awarded courtesy of Kodak Film and WMIL Radio on May 7, Kodak Film Family Day at the Zoo. Further details are included in this issue.

The Milwaukee County Zoo is once again offering some great outdoor exercise for you, your family and friends. It's our Cross-Country Skiing program which gives you a chance to ski side-by-side with some of our year-round inhabitants. Special group rates will be offered.

Don't worry if you don't have equipment. Ski rental is available as well as beginning instruction. For more information contact the Visitor Services Department, 771-3040.

Easter and Egg Days comes a little early this year on March 25 and 26. Let's hope the snow is all melted and there are lots of eggs to be found! Burger King is the proud sponsor of this event and promises to add many special surprises. Fill your Easter basket at the bunny stops throughout the Zoo and end your day with the bunny hop over to the Easter Egg Hunt in the Stackner Heritage Farm.

The warmer weather springs up more special events so please stay tuned!

Speakers Series Premieres in Peck Welcome Center

The Zoological Society is pleased to sponsor a Speaker's Series featuring authorities and celebrities in the areas of conservation, zoology, wildlife and other related issues.

Gil and Lilliam Boese will "kick off' the Speaker's Series for Zoological Society members with a slide and lecture presentation entitled "Project Rhino: Wildlife Conservation in Zimbabwe" at 7 p.m. on Friday, January 13, 1989. The Boeses have led several safaris to Africa and can offer a unique and knowledgeable perspective to this important topic. This first Speakers Series presentation will be free to Zoological Society members. Everyone is welcome to share in this exciting event at the Peck Welcome Center.

Kit and George Harrison will present "America's Favorite Backyard Birds" on Wednesday, March 8, 1989 at 7:30 p.m. in the Peck Wélcome Center. The Harrisons are authors, photographers and consultants in the field of natural history and the outdoors. Kit is the conservation editor of Sports Afield and the nature editor of Exclusively Yours. George was managing editor of National/International Wildlife magazines for nine years and is presently their field editor. He is also field editor for Ranger Rick's.

The Hamisons will have a lecture/slide presentation and will autograph books during a reception following the lecture. Admission will be $3 for Zoological Society members and $5 for non-members.

Mark and Delia Owens of the Owens

Foundation for Wildlife Conservation will speak on October 25. Watch for details in upcoming issues of ALIVE.

Other speakers being pursued are Sigoumey Weaver and Stephanie Powers.

Society Grows Through Community Support

by John Hazelwood President, Zoological Society of Milwaukee County

tanding hand to hand, they could form a line reaching from Milwaukee to Chicago, or populate the city of Green Bay, or fill County Stadium twice. That's how many people enjoyed the benefits of Zoological Society membership in 1988! In 1980, there were 3,000 members compared to over 23,000 members today. Since most memberships are family memberships, nearly 100,000 people can boast of belonging to the Zoological Society. The program continues to grow an average of 20% annually as more people become aware of the impact their donations have upon the quality seen at the Zoo.

With its 23,500 members, the Zoological Society is one of the largest membership organizations in Wisconsin. Perhaps one reason that Society membership is so appealing, is because people can see exactly where their money goes. When they visit the Zoo, they can point to many exciting exhibits made possible through their generosity including the Wolf Woods, the Underwater Polar Bear exhibit, and two penguin exhibits. The Golden Monkeys from China and the Koala were brought to Milwaukee with the help of members.

Conservation Projects

Membership also funds local, national and international endangered species conservation programs. For example, Zoological Society funding was used to conduct research to aide in the captive breeding of the Indian, White and Black rhinoceros; to work with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources in reintroducing two endangered species to the state, the Bam Owl and the Trumpeter Swan; and to fund a sanctuary in Belize which protects endangered Howler Monkeys.

Although memberships forms its backbone, the Society's growth is also due to the 200,000 school children visiting the Zoo annually are enriched by the able assistance of Zoo Pride valunteers. support of the corporate community, and to the dedication of the Society's many volunteers.

Corporate Involvement

A unique group of members belong to the Platypus Society. These corporate and patron members donate between $500 and $10,000 annually. In 1982, there were only 41 members; in 1988, over 300 members. That growth illustrates the corporate community's commitment to excellence at the Milwaukee County Zoo. They consider their association with the Zoo an investment in the Greater Milwaukee community. In 1988, this special group of community leaders donated nearly $300,000 in Zoo support. Platypus Society support is critical in enabling the Zoo to continue as a leader in scientific studies and as a comerstone in Wisconsin's cultural programs.

In addition to their annual support, many Platypus Society members formed the foundation of the Society's donors to its successful capital campaign. The Society has raised nearly $13 million from the private sector. Donations ranged from $1.5 million from the Lynde and Harry Bradley Foundation to $50 donations from thousands of Society members. Together with Milwaukee County's $12.5 million commitment, the dream of climate controlled, weather independent exhibits is well on its way to reality.

The first link in the "Zoo for all Seasons," the Peck Welcome Center, was opened to the public last June. Construction of the second building, the Great Ape Facility, will begin in spring. When complete in 1991, visitors will be immersed in a tropical rainforest environment featuring lowland gorillas and bonobos. The Aviary is presently being renovated and will feature a shore-bird exhibit and new free flight hall. Watch for the opening of the "Life Beneath the Waters—Concept V," the underwater viewing of the sea lions, in July.

Zoo Pride Volunteers

In addition to financial support, the Society also donated nearly 50,000 volunteer hours in 1988 through Zoo Pride. That's the equivalent of 25 full-time employees working year round—a value of $500,000 to the Zoo and the Society!

Volunteers assist with the Animal Adoption program, staff the information booth, and serve as tour guides to help visitors learn more about zoo animals—among many other invaluable activities.

Zoo Pride volunteers also enhance the Zoo's education programs by conducting tours for school groups, explaining the operation of the Dairy at the Stackner Heritage Farm and providing narration about the Zoo's Elephant Management Program. The "Remains to be Seen" carts are operated by Zoo Pride to provide animal education to Zoo visitors.

These treasured volunteers assist with special events such as Senior Citizen's Day, Lunch with Santa, and Zoo Ball. They also perform clerical duties—typing, record keeping, and mailing. Some volunteers are "on call" to observe and record behavior on sick, pregnant or newly introduced animals. Others belong to the Speakers Bureau, an outreach program featuring a slide show which brings the Zoo to nursing homes and clubs.

Board of Directors

Another valued group of volunteers is the Zoological Society Board of Directors. These outstanding citizens and business people oversee all aspects of the Society. They set policies that govern the Society, plan and approve goals and budgets, raise funds, and serve as goodwill ambassadors for the Zoo and the Society. To meet the increasing responsibilities of the Society, the Board has three new committees: a Public Relations Committee to increase public awareness of the Zoological Society and the Milwaukee County Zoo; a Govemment Liaison Committee to further better communications between the Society and the County Executive and County Supervisors; and an Audit Committee.

The Associate Board operates exclusively for fund raising purposes. They sponsor many area restaurant openings and will host the first annual "Wok on the Wild

The Associate Board's 31 members fund raise through hosting area restaurant openings and special events like "Wok on the Wild Side" to be held on February 4th.

Side," a Chinese New Year celebration on February 4th.

Donations from foundations, corporations and friends have allowed the Society to pledge nearly $13 million for the "New, New Zoo," capital improvements program. Annual support from family and corporate members helps fund the Education Department which serves nearly 200,000 school children each year. In recognition of its excellence, the Zoo's Education Department was the recipient of two coveted awards, one from the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquaniums and the other from the National Association of Counties.

As donations to the Society increase, the Society's Zoo support also increases. In 1980, the Society contributed $44,000. In 1989, $947,875 will go towards Zoo support.

The Zoological Society and the Milwaukee County Zoo exemplify a temfic success story. Working together, they have created new exhibits and facilities, purchased rare and endangered animals, instituted an award-winning Education Department, and planned and funded a capital improvements master plan featuring state-of-the-art exhibits. This unique partnership has made the Milwaukee County Zoo a community treasure—and improved the quality of life in the Greater Milwaukee community.

When the Zoological Society was created in 1906, its sole mission was to aid the Milwaukee County Zoo—a mission that hasn't changed in over 80 years. What has changed is that more volunteers and more community support has allowed the Zoological Society to do even more for the Zoo. With the loyalty and support of its members, donors and volunteers, the Society will maintain its cooperative—and extremely successful—relationship with the Milwaukee County Zoo.

WOK ON THE WILD SIDE

Where the Far East Meets the Midwest

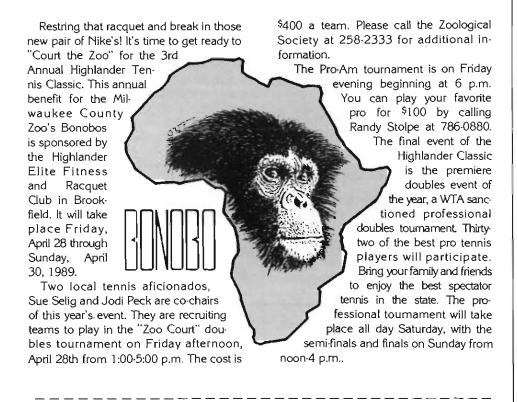

Practice using chopsticks—it's 4687, the Year of the Snake. To celebrate, on February 4, 1989, the Associate Board of the Zoological Society of Milwaukee County will sponsor a Chinese New Year spectacular, "Wok on the Wild Side."

Join Mistress of Ceremonies, Dr. Liu Tiu, as she introduces the dazzling spectacles of dragon, fan, and ribbon dances. Delight in the melodious tones of Peng Goh, who performs with the Florentine Opera. Experience the Oriental secrets of origami and brush painting and the grace of Kung Fu. And, finally, enjoy the culinary delights of a seven course Chinese dinner prepared by Toy's Chinatown Restaurant and Lee Johns Catering. The Boston Store has generously donated additional "surprises".

To complete the fantastic evening, you will have a chance to win a visit to San Francisco's farned Chinatown. Round trip travel for two has been provided by Northwest Airlines. Hotel accommodations for two nights comes to you courtesy of the San Francisco Park Hyatt Hotel. While you're there, you can have a VIP behind-the scenes tour of the San Francisco Zoo. You must attend "Wok on the Wild Side" to be eligible to win this extraordinary prize package.

Reserve your place soon by mailing in the registration form found on this page.

Membership Drive Slated For Spring

A membership drive will be mailed to 200,000 Milwaukee residents this spring. We will be inviting individuals and families to become a member of the Zoo and enjoy the same benefits you do.

If you run across someone who receives this, please encourage them to join. Every new member's donation will assist the Zoo in many areas.

And if YOU receive the mailing, please "bear" with us. We do our best to keep the mailing lists clean, but a few names still slip through. If your membership is in the name of Mr. Ted E. Bear you may still receive a mailing addressed to T.E. Bear. If you do, pass the information to a friend. They'll love you for it and so will we!

Thank you for your cooperation.

EVERY PENNY HELPS

THE ZOO We need your help to save on mailing and postage costs. If you are receiving duplicate mailings from the Zoological Society, please call the Membership Department at (414) 258-2333. If you have moved recently, don't forget to send the Society an address change card available at your local post office. Thank you.

MATCHING

count twice as much. Many companies support organizations like the Zoo by matching their employee's charitable contributions. If your company has a matching gift program, please apply for these important matching funds.

ZOO PRIDE

Pride in "Pride"

As our organization re-groups, re-evaluates and rejuvenates, we have many accomplishments of which to be proud and many opportunities which lie ahead. Many dedicated Zoo Pride volunteers worked together to generously donate over 48,000 hours to the Milwaukee County Zoo and Zoological Society over the past year. Those hours were given cheefully and self-lessly in rain, snow, sleet and heat!

Zoo Pride volunteers have also worked diligently to raise over $35,000 for the King Penguin exhibit in the Aviary. Our fund raising efforts will continue throughout the next year and our success will be dependent on your help!

The Remains to be Seen Carts have expanded their summer program to include the winter months. The Carts have been relocated to the Peck Welcome Center and will be available on weekends throughout the winter.

The "Do the Zoo in Winter, Too" guides have geared up for another winter season and have moved the Family Film Festival portion of their program to the Multimedia Theatre in the Peck Welcome Center. Guides will again be stationed in each building on weekends during the winter months to acquaint Zoo visitors with each area's inhabitants.

This Fall, Zoo Pride experienced a "changing of the guard" with the election of a new President, Bob Hills. We look forward to Pride's continued success under his capable leadership.

We also thank our immediate Past President, Chris Javins, for two years of service to Zoo Pride and wish her the best of luck in her future endeavors.

Thank You

The Zoo Pride volunteers gratefully acknowledge the generosity and kindness of Jerry Reiser, Chairman of the Marquette Electronics Foundation, and Marquette Electronics for hosting the concert, "Keyboard Conversations," by Jeffrey Siegel. From all of us to you . . . thank you!

Pop for the penguins

The Zoo Pride Volunteers are fundraising for the New King Penguin Exhibit which will be located in the renovated Aviary scheduled to open in 1990.

To help build a castle for the Kings, Zoo Pride is selling a special gourmet blend of popcom for your enjoyment. The popcom is grown and packaged in Wisconsin and would make the perfect gift for yourself or for someone special . . .

The popcom is available in a 28-ounce jug which sells for $2.25 or in a convenient microwave 5-pack box for $4. Both varieties are a delicious way to help the Zoo Pride Volunteers reach their goal in giving the King Penguins a new home.

Please call the Zoo Pride office, 258-5667, to place your order so that you can Pop for the Penguins!

Feline.

Take a walk on the wild side

Zoo Pride is pleased to provide VIP Behind-the-Scenes tours. These 2½-hour tours are for persons over the age of 12.

Rain or shine, sleet or snow, you walk in and around animal exhibits and zookeeper work areas in selected areas of the Zoo. Be prepared to walk up and down stairs, go into animal enclosures (unoccupied) and experience the sights, sounds and smells of a Zoo in operation. Be sure to bring your camera.

Reserved tours are conducted during regular Zoo hours. Tours can be adapted to accommodate the size of your group.

Phone the Zoo Pride office, 258-5667, for more VIP information and fees.

Something for everyone

Zoo Pride, the volunteer auxiliary of the Zoological Society, offers exciting opportunities for interested individuals. Imagine observing and documenting the surgical recovery of a rhinoceros, describing the rigors of the elephant training program, or explaining how snakes shed with actual animal artifacts.

Many benefits accompany membership in Zoo Pride: continuing education opportunities, lectures, field trips, workshops, tours, the ZOOming In newsletter, etc.

For additional membership information, please contact Zoo Pride, 258-5667.

Bring the Zoo to you

Bring the Milwaukee County Zoo to your organization or club meeting! Zoo Pride's Speaker's Bureau offers a 45-minute program highlighting a day at the Zoo complete with a Zoo Pride quide.

Zooper parties

Plan your child's next birthday party at the Milwaukee County Zoo. Trained Zoo Pride volunteers conduct parties for children ages 5 years to preteens. Each party includes a personalized decorated cake, a beverage of your choice, a gift for each guest, plus a T-shirt for the guest of honor and a mini-tour of the Zoo.

Parties are offered every Saturday of the year with added weekdays during the summer months.

The price of the party includes admission with parking for children and chaperones.

Please call Zoo Pride at 258-5667 for booking dates or additional information.

Plan at least 10 to 12 weeks ahead of the special day.

Kenya Adventure

Looking for adventure? A summer trip to Kenya is the answer.

Encounter the Nairobi National Park. No where else is there a wildlife reserve with a great variety of animals so close to a major city. Venture 100 miles south to Amboseli National Park to see unusual mirages and the home of the lion, black rhino, elephant and cheetah. Continue to the "Millionaire's Paradise," Mt. Kenya Safan Club.

Enjoy a visit to the Samburu Game Reserve which is the gateway to the Northern Frontier of Kenya. Here, you will find the reticulated giraffe and zebra. Experience non-stop game viewing from your window or an observation platform on The Ark, known as the "Ship in the Forest," at the Aberdare National Park. The journey continues at the Masai Mara Game Reserve to study behavioral patterns of the predators. Sleep overnight in thatched roofed tents along streams and natural pools which are favorite watering holes for the resident and migrant animals.

Departure is June 16, 1989 and return July 1, 1989.

For additional information, contact the Zoological Society, 258-2333.
